Observations... By the Editor

An important election will be held in Hancock County next Tuesday, January 30. At this time, the farmers of the county will elect delegates to the County convention for the naming of the Hancock County Production and Marketing Committee. The election is most important for the reason that the allocation of all PMA funds are distributed through this committee. These funds are used primarily in the building of improved pastures, and at this time, one of the most important moves for the benefit of the county lies in the building of more improved pastures by the dairymen and cattlemen of the county. They can receive some aid from their county committee for this phase of work, so it behooves them to elect men of sound judgment as delegates who will in turn name outstanding men as members of the committee.

"Gloomy pre-season" forecasts that Miami would fizzle as a vacationland without wideopen gambling to stir up interest felt flat today as America's winter playground comfortably settled down to its best season in years," writes Don A. Schanche, International News Service Reporter, in an article appearing in the New Orleans States. "More out of towners are dipping into their pocketbooks, to eat, drink and be warm in Miami than ever before in the area's history. And for merriment, they are getting the same plush, silver lined stuff they always did, with one exception. The click of the croupier's stick and the metallic spinning of roulette wheels are sounds they cannot hear anymore."

Of course, the predictions of all racketeers are that with the ousting of their business, comes the death knell of legitimate business. What folly. The same predictions have been made in this county, that with the closing down of the operations of the slot machines, business would fall off, and that business places would close. Statistics show that business in this area is far better since the slot machines are no more, and we dare say that anyone in a legitimate business, who had machines in their places, will agree that it has not affected their income; that people have more money to spend in legitimate trade than heretofore, and that the profits realized are far greater than the take from the slots. If we in Bay St. Louis, would just take a few pointers from the remarks of Dan Sullivan of the Greater Miami Crime Commission which were quoted in Schanche's article, when he said: "We have enough good things in Miami, including the climate, to bring tourists down. We don't need bad things to lure them. We can get along just fine, even better than before, without the gamblers," Sullivan is right. Who cares to go to a vacation spot filled with gangsters and killers. Not a very pleasant feeling to be brushing elbows with those fellows. Of course, we are particularly fortunate in a way, that only local boys, as far as we know, were in the syndicates operating the slot machines; and though much controversy arose, even among the operators, it did not go to extremes. Sure, legitimate business is going to be better wherever the rackets are removed. They are out here, so let's keep them out, and let us all join hands to build our section where it will be interesting to the tourist. We have God-given natural beauty which surpasses any other section of the country, and we sit idly by with not a thought to its development. Will we awake to our advantages? We think we will.

The Annual Carnival Ball for the benefit of St. Joseph Academy will be held Friday night, February 2. This affair is usually the high spot of the year, and we understand this year will be no exception. We have heard many rumors as to the identity of the king and queen, but we don't think we have heard it correctly. There is certainly one way to find out, and that is to be on hand next Friday night. You will certainly satisfy your curiosity, if you have any, and too, you will be helping a worthy cause.

Mrs. Miller Reviews U N Organizations

Mrs. Paul M. Miller reviewed the accomplishments of the United Nations through its specialized agencies, U N E S C O and W H O, in her report on these agencies to the U N study group of the League of Women Voters Tuesday, January 23, at the home of Mrs. John Husband.

OPERATES IN ADVISORY CAPACITY

Basically, Mrs. Miller said, United Nations Educational Scientific Cultural Organization, popularly known as U N E S C O, operates in an advisory capacity, and as a clearing house for information to government, individual and international non-profit organizations interested in its particular fields of education, culture and science.

Mrs. Miller listed among the accomplishments of U N E S C O, the replacement of books and other publications destroyed with the schools and libraries of war-devastated countries; the 50 workshops sent these countries to enable them to rebuild and repair

Colonel W. K. Wilson, Jr., District Engineer at Mobile, announced today that he had received advice from the Chief of Engineers, U. S. Army, of the allotment of $360,000 for the Harrison County, Mississippi, Shore Protection Project. This sum was provided for the project in the General Appropriation Act of 1951, approved by Congress last September.

JOINT UNDERTAKING
The Harrison County Shore Protection Project is a joint undertaking whereby local interests and the Federal Government cooperate to repair the seawall and protect it by the construction of a beach from Biloxi Lighthouse to Henderson Point.

REPAIRS VIRTUALLY COMPLETED
The plan calls for repair of the present sea wall, alteration of the drainage facilities, and construction of an artificial beach 300 feet wide, about 24 miles long, and with a top elevation of five feet above mean sea level.

Repairs to the sea wall have been virtually completed; drainage structures west of Gulfport are now being placed under direct supervision of the County, and a contract for the installation of drainage structures between the Biloxi lighthouse and the Gulf Coast Military Academy has just been awarded to E. L. Kennedy of Gulfport; and dredging of the beach was commenced January 3, at Henderson Point by the McWilliams Dredging Company of New Orleans.

APPLICATION SUBMITTED IN 1946

A formal application for Federal assistance in the project was submitted by the County Board of Supervisors in 1946. The damage done to the sea wall and Highway 90 in the hurricane of September 1947, pointed up the need for action. In June 1948, Congress authorized Federal participation in the project to the extent of $1,133,000, one-third of the original cost of the sea wall, and has now made the first appropriation under this authorization.

The body was taken Saturday at 10:00 a.m. to Kiln where a Requiem Mass was celebrated at the Church of the Annunciation by Father Toner. Interment was in Bayou Cocca cemetery.

Mrs. Curet, the daughter of Mrs. James Lefebvre and the late Mr. Lefebvre of New Orleans spent several years in Bay St. Louis with her family. Besides her husband and mother, she leaves a sister, Mrs. Frank Marshall, of New Orleans; two children, James Curet of New Orleans and Mrs. J. Edward Favre of Kiln; and four grandchildren. These projects are carried through only at the request of the country concerned at the expense of their governments with U N E S C O consultants acting in an advisory capacity.

VALUABLE CONTRIBUTION
W H O, or World Health Organization, Mrs. Miller added, has as its aim the maximum of health for all peoples. Its most dramatic accomplishments have been in the cholera epidemic in the Far East, in which 1,000 cases a week were

According to Shattuck a number of serious problems in the rural electrification field have appeared. Material shortages, particularly of aluminum and copper, will almost bring construction programs to a halt and hinder maintenance unless some system of priorities is set up, Shattuck said. Increasing demands for electricity in cities and rural areas may bring on shortage of power supplies, and the armed forces may call in trained employees who would be hard to replace, the manager declared.

Most of the four-day convention will be filled with the presentation of problems by individual delegates and group discussion of possible solutions with a number of experts. Claude R. Wickard, REA Administrator and former Secretary of Agriculture, will head the experts in the field. Several national political leaders will also attend the convention to discuss legislative effects on the electrification of the nation's farms.

This is the ninth annual meeting of the National Rural Electric Association, an organization of almost 900 rural electric systems serving just under three million American farms, churches, schools and businesses.

In order to solve some of the problems of extending electric lines to more farms and give better service to those already being served, NRECA was organized in 1942 by the rural electric systems. It has set up a retirement and insurance program for rural electric system employees, worked with manufacturers in getting more supplies and better service in rural areas; fought for retention of the right of farmers to generate their own power and led efforts to develop more of the water power resources of the nation.

NRECA, with offices in Washington, D. C., is governed by a board of directors, one elected to head each state. James T. Dudley of Lucedale is the Mississippi director.

ANOTHER MUNICH COMING?

Last Monday the United Nations political committee, by vote of 27 to 23, again postponed action on Red China's aggression. Yesterday British Prime Minister Attlee urged further UN delay of the long overdue decision. The political committee scheduled a meeting for today to consider the case further. With the British government openly committed against action at this time, the committee may shun the decision so obviously needed, on the pretext named yesterday by Mr. Attlee—that "the time has not come to consider further measures."

By further procrastination on an issue involving its own principles, obligations and justification for existence, the United Nations Assembly stands to forfeit the moral prestige, world respect and confidence earned last June through its prompt decision to defend democratic South Korea, its own ward, against armed Communist aggression. Today United Nations troops are engaged in that pledged defense against a new and more powerful aggressor—Red China. If aggression was a crime in June, it is no less a crime in January. Having condemned and ordered resistance to last summer, the assembly cannot condone it now without moral self-stultification and betrayal of its principles, its obligations and its troops on the Korean battlefield.

That seems to us so obvious as to be undeniable. Equally evident as we see it is the hopelessness of an honorable success for the UN through further negotiation with Moscow via the Red Chinese puppet government in Peiping. The minimum Communist terms require US condonation of Red China's aggression, and the Peiping regime's admission to the United Nations. The UN charter bars the admission of an aggressor nation to membership. The UN appears must scrap the charter along with the purpose and integrity of the world peace organization to consummate the Munich-like deal they seem mistakenly to consider, as did Mr. Chamberlain in his time, the path to a stable peace.

There will be no peace so long as the Communist master in Moscow can make aggression pay. UN condonation of the crime could only insure further Red profits from such enterprise. Meanwhile the "negotiation" can be drawn out, like the five-year parley still unfinished, over Austrian peace terms, the lease-lend business and other long-over-due agreements and settlements which Moscow has blocked for years.—Times-Picayune, Wednesday, Jan. 24, 1951.

NEWS OF OUR COLORED PEOPLE

BY SENIOR CLASS OF ST. ROSE DE LIMA

The Junior Holy Name boys of St. Rose School held their official reception of candidates and new members Sunday night, January 21.

The boys, who assembled in the school hall, marched to the church. Following a hymn sung to the Holy Spirit, Rev. Father R. E. Pung, S. V. D., gave the sermon.

The reception of members followed. They were Boston Edmondson, Clarence Price, Larry Wilkerson and Paul Gorman. The candidates were Clifton Wilkerson, Donald Saucier, Joseph Favre, Malcolm Thomas, Vincent Robateau and Walter James. Then, according to custom, all old members present, publicly renewed their Holy Name pledge. The hymn, "Sweet Name Which Makes the Dying Live," was sung. Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament was then given. With the hymn, "Holy God We Praise Thy Name," services were concluded.

Initiation of the new members and candidates took place in the school hall. Refreshments of fried oysters, potato salad, buns, ice cream, soft drinks and candy were served. The Rev. Joseph A. Francis, S. V. D., took several pictures of the annual event.

Why SPEED to DESTRUCTION

MISSISSIPPI SAFETY COUNCIL

Cardinal rules which drivers should obey to prevent their joining ranks of accidental killers during the remainder of the winter months were outlined today by officials of The Mississippi Safety Council in cooperation with the State Highway Safety Patrol and the National Safety Council.

These rules include:

1. The only proper place for alcohol is in the radiator of a car—not in the driver.

2. Light and sound can safely ignore speed limits—the driver cannot. Obey posted speed limits and those safe limits imposed by weather or other conditions.

3. Set an example for the driver behind you to follow. Avoid weaving from lane to lane, passing on the wrong side or at intersections.

4. Avoid "right-of-way" arguments. The driver of these arguments is the one who remains alive. It's better to yield the right-of-way than to give up your life to prove you're right.

5. Look for and heed signs, signals and traffic officer's directions.

6. When you leave your car to become a pedestrian, carry with you the same respect you have for traffic laws as a motorist.

7. Taking chances on the road is needless. Don't take any; don't be a "show-off."

8. A shiny hood doesn't mean you have a safe car. Extend your care to include all mechanical and electrical equipment. The best brakes in driving come to the motorists who have the best brakes in their cars.

The privilege of driving is something that most motorists do not appreciate until it is taken away from them by accident or by our action. That was the opinion today of Colonel T. B. Birdsong, Commissioner of Public Safety.

"Suspending the driving license of violations as a means of curtailing the death and injury is a drastic preventive measure, but unfortunately, it is necessary," the Highway Patrol Director explained. He added that too many drivers whose licenses are suspended temporarily fail to realize that the lesson they are receiving may prevent them from losing their right to drive permanently because of a fatal accident.

Highway Patrol records show that during 1950 a total of 3,486 driver's licenses had been revoked. A license examination summary for the past year revealed that out of 96,307 seeking drivers license, 39,823 were temporarily rejected until improvement could be shown in their aptitude tests. Two of the major factors attributed to accidents, according to Birdsong, was speed, which ranks at the top of the list and driving under the influence of alcohol. In both cases, Birdsong said, it is a case of "flagrant disregard for the rules of the road and public safety."

Ben Hogan To Lead Campaign For The Oschner Foundation Funds

"King of Golf" Ben Hogan will be volunteer General Chairman of the Oschner Medical Foundation's Gulf South fund-raising drive, it was announced today.

Hogan, the nation's top professional golfer, recovered from a near-fatal automobile accident in 1949 to win the 1950 National Golf open in what has been termed "The greatest comeback in sports history."

"I am only one of thousands of men and women to whom the highly trained skill of a specialist has meant not only the difference between invalidism and full, useful living, but between life and death," Hogan said in taking over chairmanship of the $2,000,000 drive.

"I firmly believe that money given to build a modern, functional hospital building for the South's leading medical center and its foremost specialized training and research facility is more than a contribution. It is a down payment on the most valuable and necessary health insurance possible; insurance that, in case of need, the finest hospital services will be available, and also that trained skilled medical care will become increasingly widespread throughout the South."

Under Hogan's chairmanship, local committees of leading doctors, business and professional people will conduct a selective Capital Funds solicitation throughout such states as Florida, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and Texas. In addition, gifts will be collected from individual donors throughout the United States, Central and South America. The New Orleans drive begins February 8, it was announced, while regional drives are already underway in many parts of the Gulf South.

The present, Foundation hospital, tal, purchased from the federal government in 1946 as an emergency measure, consists of 28 acres of rambling wooden barracks, in which treatment rooms and wards are connected by more than a mile and a half of corridors. Originally erected as a temporary Army hospital with a ten year life expectancy, the structures skyrocket Foundation expenses in man-hours wasted, insurance and maintenance costs, Hogan emphasized.

"Although the Oschner Foundation, a non-profit organization formed in 1944 with the three-fold purpose of medical research, specialized physician training and advanced hospital care, is less well-known to the general public than is the Oschner Clinic," Hogan explained. "Its contribution to the medical profession and to Southern medical welfare in general has grown to an astonishingly impressive stature. At Foundation, doctors can study in their chosen medical specialties under recognized leaders, can gain experience in the treatment of complicated and obscure ailments under expert supervision, and can carry out individual medical research in the Foundation's presently small, but superbly equipped laboratories."

"The Foundation's only drawback is its physical limitation," Hogan said. "The present buildings are inadequate for both doctors and patients. Only when they are replaced with a functional, modern structure can the full potentialities of the Foundation staff be realized for patient care, research and education."

Hogan, who has been recognized as the nation's leading professional golfer since winning top money honors in 1940, is a native of Dublin, Texas. A leading contender in the professional golf field since his middle teens, he first gained recognition as a partner of Byron Nelson in the nation-wide golf tours of the '30s which helped popularize the sport with the general public. Chosen Golfer of the Year for the seventh time in 1948, he was at the peak of his profession when, on February 2, 1949, an auto accident near El Paso, Texas, resulted in injuries which seriously threatened his life. The diminutive 135 lb. golfer recovered to regain top national position in his field last year. He has been for the past several weeks in Los Angeles acting as advisor on a motion picture version of his life story.

Teenager Gets Appetite Back; Thanks Hadacol

HADACOL Supplies Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron Which Her System Lacked.

According to Sara Lorraine Beck, Box 253, Coker, Alabama, when a person is only 15 years old and feels terrible, can't eat or sleep the way they should, it's mighty bad. That is the way Lorraine says she used to feel, but that was of course, before she started taking HADACOL. Lorraine found that taking HADACOL helped her system overcome deficiencies in Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Here is Lorraine Beck's own statement: "I was run-down, sick and skinny, and weighed only 90 pounds before I used HADACOL. I would not eat because I had no appetite. Now I weigh 135 pounds and have an appetite. I feel a lot better. I have been taking HADACOL 10 months and am still taking it. I am 15 years old. HADACOL has done me lots of good."

HARRISON COUNTY WAS FIRST TO ESTABLISH HEALTH DEPT.

Every county in Mississippi except Webster and Walthall has provided for a full time health department in the protection of the health of the citizens of the county. The first one of our 82 counties to be organized was Harrison in 1917. The last and 80th county to provide its citizens with a full time public health program was Jefferson. This is 80 up and 2 to go. No doubt the fine people in Webster and Walthall counties will soon make necessary provision for full time health protection.

No county in any state can afford not to give the people at least the six basic health services, which are: communicable disease control, sanitation, maternal and child health and crippled children's service, health education, and good laboratory service for the diagnosis of all disease amenable to public health management and control.

Our health problems are universal and can best be solved through cooperative efforts, that is, the county, the state and the Federal Government all joining together in establishing and conducting a life saving program which only a well administered, full time county health department with personnel properly trained can render.

The local Public Health Service Bill, HR 5865, should be passed without further delay by our Congress. This necessary fundamental law should have been passed some time ago. If the people do not secure through their representatives in Congress the passage of this legislation and if they are not alert to see that their representative in the State Legislature provide the necessary funds to carry on local county health work in cooperation with the taxpayers of a county, then we may expect a return of malaria, typhoid fever, diphtheria, pellagra, the dysenteries, and many other preventable diseases that plagued us so sorely in the past.

Many of the diseases that our people have are preventable, and they should be prevented. Money and trained workers are needed, however, to protect the people from these diseases.

It has been a long, tedious uphill fight to advance the public health of Mississippi to the enviable first place that it now occupies. "We become discouraged at times, but I have an abiding faith in the good sense and judgment of the majority of the citizens of our state, and it is my considered judgment that enough of them will be sufficiently interested in having a clean slate and a healthy population to see that sufficient funds are provided to do the job in the proper way," Dr. Felix J. Underwood, of the Mississippi State Health Department, stated.

—N. M. Dick, who has been ill at his home, left Wednesday for the Veterans' Hospital in Biloxi for a check-up.

—Miss Audrey Poolson who is employed at the Veterans' hospital in New Orleans left Monday following a two week's leave spent with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Poolson.

—Mrs. August Taconi who was ill for some time is much improved and able to be up and around.

—Mr. and Mrs. Leon Swanner and two children of Birmingham, Alabama visited his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. James, over the weekend.

—Nolan Ladner, who was ill last week, is improved and able to be out.

THE SPEED OF OUR SAWS is Tuned to growth in our woods

THE RULES for a permanent forest operation, which means a sustained flow of payroll funds into the community, are relatively simple . . . timber land must be so harvested that it reseeds naturally, it must be protected from fire, and rate of new growth should be determined as a key to the number of logs which can be safely removed in any one year.

The integration of these factors with relation to a specific operation is called . . . a forest management plan, or just plain good business.

Our production of forest products is calculated in relation to growth of new wood in our forests . . . this will lengthen our operation and keep us from exhausting our tree capital.

Poultry House Care Means Safety

By HOWARD SIMMONS

With this winter weather sometimes varying from warmer and sunny to rainy and freezing, close attention should be given to properly ventilating the poultry house for either broilers or laying hens. The birds may develop colds if the house is too drafty, but the same will probably result if the house is closed too tight, causing wet litter.

Ventilate from only one side in winter. This side should be as nearly as possible toward the sun and opposite the prevailing wind. It does not necessarily mean venting from the south, since the length of the house may not run from east to west.

Make sure cracks have been stopped up on all sides.

Litter may be wet because there is not enough ventilation for moisture given off by the birds to leave the house.

If litter is shallow on the floor, add enough to bring it up to 10 or 12 inches.

Wet litter is often found around water fountains. Avoid this by adjusting the valves and providing a drain underneath the water fountain. Besides protecting the health of the birds, this will save much cleaning and replacing litter.

ORCHARD INSECTS

Fruit trees should be protected from scale, and peach trees from the peach tree borer if this has not already been done.

Spray for scale control, using the dormant oil emulsion sprays.

For peach tree borer control, propylene dichloride emulsion is satisfactory on trees of all ages if used carefully. Apply during any warm period this winter or spring.

The diluted emulsion is poured or sprayed around the base of the tree, but not on the trunk, then covered with several shovelfuls of soil. It may be necessary to cup soil around the tree to keep the liquid from running off, or to fill soil cracks to keep it from reaching the roots.

Ethylene dichloride is also satisfactory for borer control.

Follow directions on the containers of commercial preparations of either material.

KEEP UP MILK FLOW

The demand for milk is expected to increase with the nation going on a wartime economy. This is added reason for doing everything to keep up milk flow the remainder of the winter.

Protect the cows from cold, give them plenty of good roughage if it is available and feed a balanced grain mixture according to production. Mineral supplement is especially important with the current shortage of good harvested feed.

Need for storing silage can be seen this winter, after rain at harvest time damaged the hay crop and early freezing damaged winter grazing. Silage is more dependable than grazing or hay, and more economical than hay.

Dairymen with surplus grazing during the spring can store it as grass silage for feeding in late summer or next winter. If not needed as planned in the feeding program, properly stored silage will keep several years.

The State Health Officer Says:

As state chairman of the Mississippi Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, I would like to remind you that January is March of Dimes month—month of emphasis on aid for people whom the polio virus attacks.

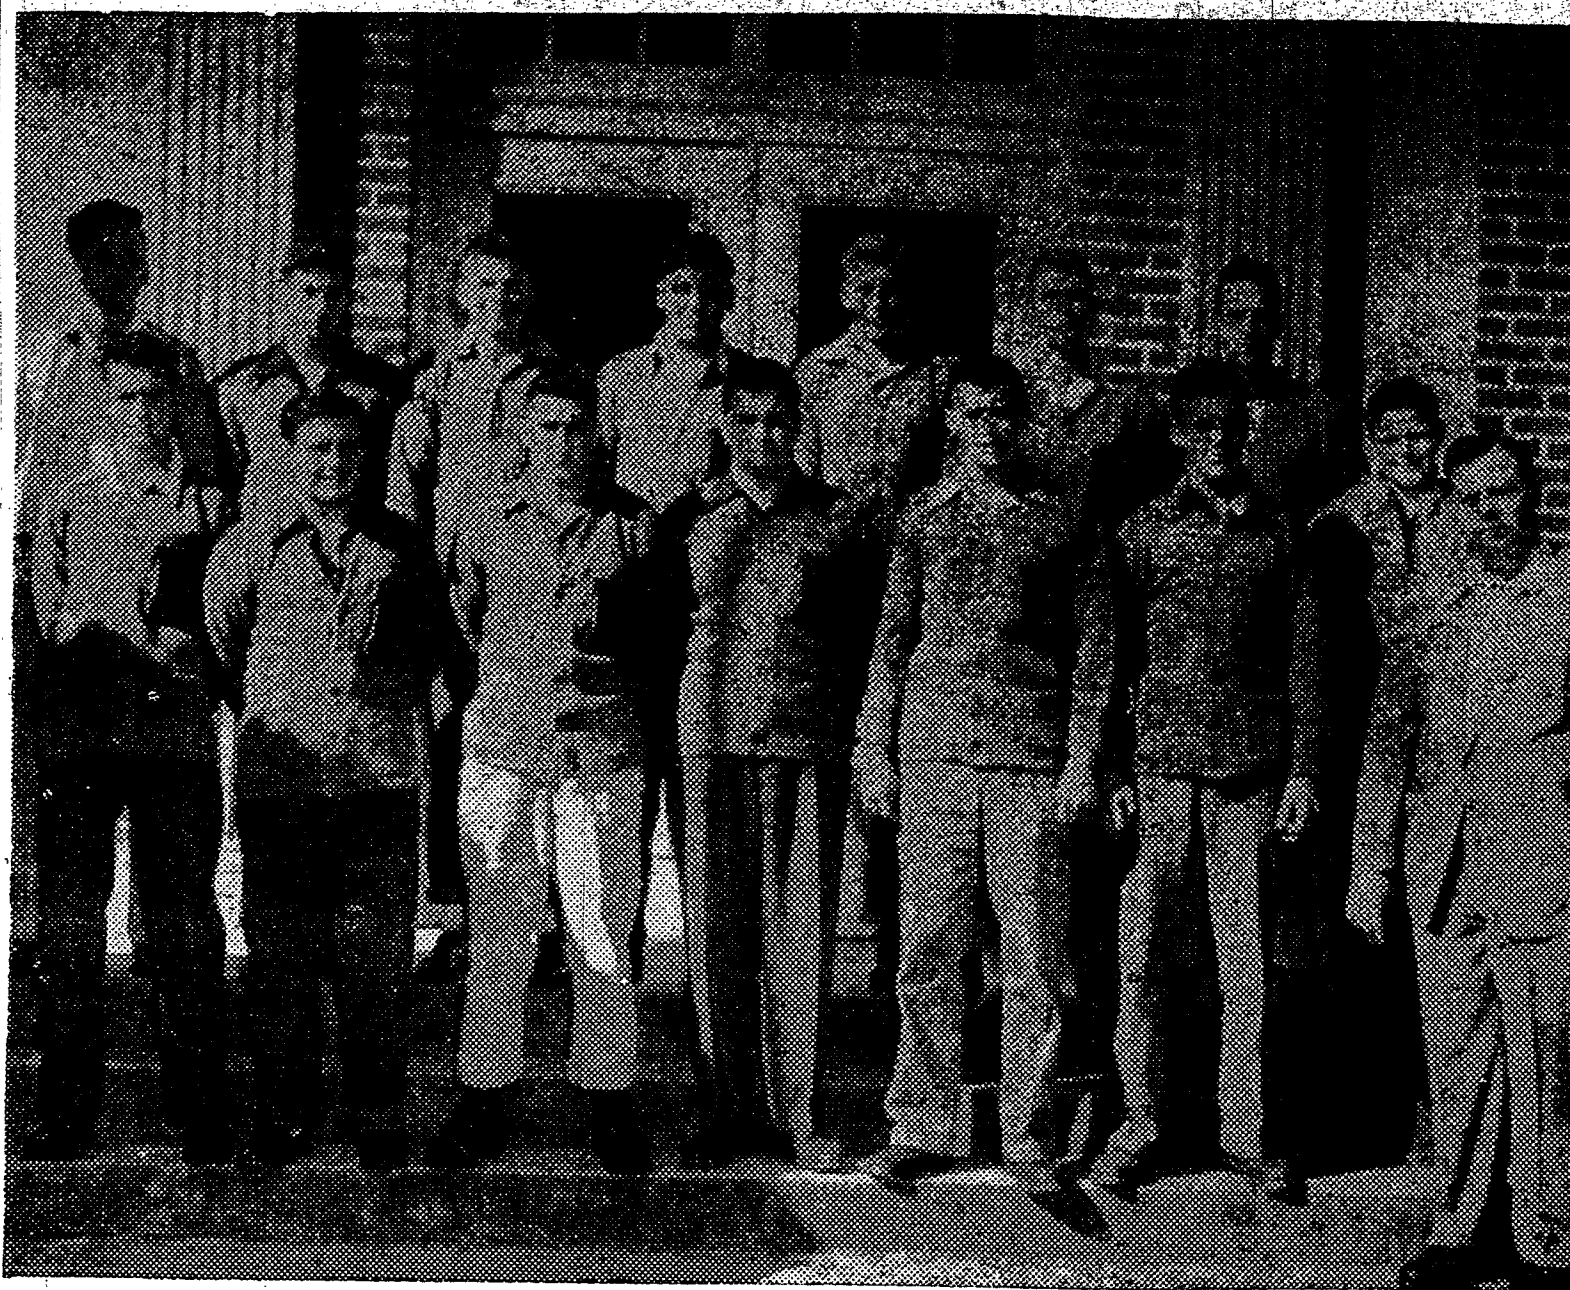

Your support was greatly needed last year and the year before, both of which brought a record-breaking toll of polio cases. In 1950, more than 30,000 new patients were added to the list. During the past three years, new polio cases have almost equalled the number which occurred in preceding ten years. And it must be remembered that many of the boys and girls, young men and women who one year have polio require treatment the following year or years. It is small wonder that many chapters all over the country found themselves early last year with sadly depleted funds—in some cases with no funds at all. Yet there were patients who needed hospitalization and treatment.

Four out of every five persons stricken with polio ask aid of their local infantile paralysis association, and funds must be available to meet those requests for aid.

When local chapters cannot answer requests, the National Foundation sends the funds needed. Last year, however, even the emergency funds at national headquarters were depleted before treatment costs for all patients were paid.

Donations to the March of Dimes pay the cost of hospitalization, nursing, physical therapy, transportation, research, and other such needs. The local chapter retains half the funds, the remainder going to national headquarters for expenditures such as research and emergency use for local chapters.

In Mississippi alone, 389 people had polio last year. Wherever polio patients are, they must not suffer from lack of care and treatment. I am sure that, in our land of plenty, knowledge of the need will result in liberal donations to the March of Dimes.

HOPPE TO LEAD ALLSTATE BAND

Blue Mountain, Miss., Jan. 22 —The Mississippi All-State Orchestra will be directed again this year by Dr. William A. Hoppe, director of the Department of Music at Blue Mountain College and chairman of the Mississippi String Instruction Committee of the Music Educators National Conference. The orchestra will perform at the annual meeting of the association at Jackson in March.

The orchestra was organized for the first time last year with one hundred pieces. This year some changes have been made, which will allow more representation from high schools and give more playing time at the convention. The string section of the orchestra will be composed of college, high school and grade school musicians supplemented by a few string teachers and bandmasters to strengthen that section of the orchestra. The woodwind, brass and percussion sections of the orchestra will be composed entirely of high school musicians. This will give an opportunity for more high schools to be represented.

Bandmasters will nominate several of their outstanding players for the various sections of the orchestra. The final selection of the players for the orchestra will be made by a committee of five members, including three members of the State String Instruction Committee and two bandmasters approved by the president of the Mississippi Band Masters Association.

Arrangements will be made for housing students during their stay in Jackson. Mrs. Louise Byler, Supervisor of Elementary Schools in Jackson, is in charge of these arrangements.

Directors will send in their nominations at once for All-State Orchestra. The five-man committee will hold a meeting immediately to select the orchestra personnel.

"They're All Troupers"

Everyone loves a circus—but it takes a lot of performers and a lot of good acts to make the big show a success. That's the way it is in the natural gas business, too. We of United Gas have thousands of employees performing hundreds of acts every day in the production, transmission and distribution of natural gas. The result — dependable natural gas service for some 400 cities and towns and more than 2,000 industries, many of which are being called upon to help strengthen the defense of free nations against aggression. This is our biggest act of all—the delivery of adequate, dependable supplies of natural gas to those industries.

Guests present at the party were Patsy Ruth Ladner, Allie Anita Garriga, Edward Van Zant, Joseph Allen, George Weymeyer, Maynard Hartley, Cooper, Wallace, Joseph, Alice and Grace Farragut, Warren, Ricky and Gene Adam.

Charlie Ford is able to be up and around again following a recent illness which caused him to be confined to bed for a two week period.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Vix and their young daughter spent the weekend visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Vix, of Bay St. Louis, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Farragut, of the Pass.

Cooper Farragut has received his call for the Armed Services and will report for induction February 1.

Britt Bennett, who has been stationed in Korea since early December, writes home to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herrin, of Pineville, Mississippi, that he is safe and well.

HOME AGENT'S NOTES

Banish Hazard Klan From Property

By MISS MADGE ALLRED

The Injury Brothers—Minor, Permanent and Fatal—lurk around every home and farm. To keep them from taking a permanent abode in your home and among members of your family banish the Hazard Klan from your property.

Members of the Hazard Klan are Carelessness, Haste, Fatigue, Take a Chance and Inexperience.

Brother Minor Injury works on accident victims with bruises, scratches and broken bones.

Brother Permanent Injury marks the victims for life. He takes a leg or maybe an eye, or sometimes both hands. He fixes some of them where they can never walk again; others so they can never work again.

Brother Fatal Injury removes the victims who get behind his brothers, Minor and Permanent.

It isn't pleasant to know that these gruesome characters are lurking behind us as we do our daily tasks. But we need not fear them if we are careful and exercise safety precautions to remove the hazards that cause accidents.

Keep steps and stairways clear; put away tools you might trip over, don't try to reach the top shelf from a rickety chair, watch for children's toys and teach children to keep them out of the way; keep steps repaired, be careful around farm machinery.

1951 HOME DEMONSTRATION To further protect her family from the increasing hazards that modern conveniences and technology have provided, the home demonstration club woman of 1951 has added safety to the Home Demonstration Club program.

One of her constant concerns is with the health and safety of her family.

Recent statistics show that every 16 minutes an accident occurs in the home. That old familiar tune, "Home, Sweet Home," has lost some meaning when we learn how many dangers are within its walls.

The Home Demonstration Club women in 1951 will make a concerted effort to lessen accidents in the home.

LIGHTING RECIPES A new sort of recipe book has recently been printed. It is a book of lighting recipes. Each recipe has been tested in the laboratories of the commercial electric company which published the book. They are designed to bring new comfort, enjoyment and eyesight protection to your home.

The recipes tell you how to light specific home situations, as reading, sewing, studying or food preparation. The main tool you need to apply the recipes is a tape measure.

One recipe, for example, gives the correct position for furniture and lamp as you sit in an upholstered chair or davenport, and read by light from a floor lamp.

The lower edge of the shade should be 49 inches above the floor. The diameter of the bottom of the shade should be 18 1/2 to 20 inches.

From the center of your book, newspaper or other reading matter, measure 5 inches to the right or left. From this point, measure 26 inches at a right angle to the rear of the chair. This locates the spot over which the center of the lamp shade should be placed for best results.

Each home agent has been supplied a copy of this booklet and can tell you where you may obtain a copy.

OBSERVATIONS

We are wondering if Sheriff Johnson had occasion to drive out highway 90. He certainly must have been out that way, when a liquor truck was hijacked the other day. If he went out, how could he have missed the giant size advertising placard for the free zoo. With all of this advertisement he must undoubtedly know that it is again in our midsts. Just a word from him will take care of the situation. From the reports we get, "Pip," they are doing a pretty good business, and we are certain you know how it is done. This is a pretty rough way to treat folks traveling through your county. Some of these people may mean much to us in time to come. A free zoo means nothing to us but had publicity.

State Senator Hugh Boren To Make Race For Insurance Commissioner

State Senator Hugh Allen Boren, native of Itawamba County, has announced that he will make the race for State Commissioner of Insurance.

He is 52 years old, married and has one child, a daughter. He now represents the 38th State Senatorial District and is engaged in law practice in Tupelo. Formerly he was with the legal or claim department of a multiple line insurance organization for several years. He was a high school superintendent for three years, teaching in Alcorn, Monroe and Prentiss counties. He was a student at the Ishomingo Agricultural High School and graduated from the Kossuth Agricultural High School.

Mr. Boren is a Christian gentleman, a veteran of World War I, a Mason, Odd Fellow, W. O. W., member of the American Legion, 40 and 8, Mississippi Travelers Association and has been very active in civic affairs.

In making his announcement, Mr. Boren said: "Just now, with citizens, politics must necessarily become secondary to our most serious national emergency. Later on, however, I expect to become active in the race for State Commissioner of Insurance. My candidacy will be on the basis of my standing as a citizen, attorney and official sixteen years of insurance experience and record of impartial service. In the meanwhile, I will appreciate inquiry of me as to my qualifications for the job and when elected, I hope to be a credit to the office as has been our present incumbent and his predecessors in office. I shall be most grateful for your favorable consideration."

In his race for the Senate, Senator Boren carried 90 boxes out of 9 in the District. The splendid record received shows how he is regarded by those who know him.

He is Secretary of the important Senate Finance Committee and holds eight other important committee assignments.

As State Senator he has backed up constructive programs of: Benefits to Agriculture and the Development of our Natural Resources, Better Educational Opportunities, Local Governments, and Aid to Local Governments.

Generally, as his record shows, he has been a hard worker and sponsored good business methods in governmental expenditures.

He has no political ties, and by environment, training and experience is well versed in the affairs of the office he seeks. Hugh Allen Boren can be of real service to the state, when elected.

Selecting as his campaign motto: "B for Boren," Mr. Boren is planning to make a state-wide campaign later in the year.

IT HAPPENS EVERY DAY IN MISSISSIPPI

When Time Really Counts

The speed with which the doctor may be reached in cases of sudden illness or serious injury is one good reason for the general belief among rural families that the telephone is a farm necessity.

But the farm telephone earns its keep in a host of less spectacular ways—such as enabling you to secure repair parts or to get farm help quickly, or by helping you to keep better posted on market conditions and values.

For these and many other excellent reasons, Mississippians like their rural telephones. The best proof is the big gain in Southern Bell's rural subscribers—from 8,335 in 1946 to 34,235 as of January 1—a gain of 311 per cent in 5 years. In this time Southern Bell has spent more than $7,500,000.00 for the extension and improvement of rural lines in Mississippi and we are continuing to invest more than $200,000.00 a month in the extension of our rural service.

It's a big and expensive job to keep up with the demands for more rural telephones in Mississippi but we are keeping everlastingly at it!

Watch Out For The "Blind-Spots"

Stopped by Squint Miller's farm the other day and saw a vinegar bottle in his kitchen with an over-sized cucumber inside it. The cucumber filled the whole bottle.

"What's a cucumber doing in there?" I asked him. "That's my 'blind-spot' reminder," says Squint. "My grandmother kept one in her kitchen to remind her to take stock of herself now and then."

"I slipped that bottle over the cucumber when it was just starting to grow on the vine," he went on. "And like certain viewpoints, not noticed, it just grew and grew—now it's there to stay."

From where I sit, we could take a cue from Squint and watch for our own "blind-spots" and prejudices before they grow too big to get rid of. We've got to respect our neighbor's right to his preferences... preferences for a certain make of car, a favorite movie star, or a temperate glass of beer after work. We won't be tripped by any blind spots if we keep our eyes—and minds—open!
